THE SCHOOL BOARD . . . .

L. to R.:— Lewis Grills, George Stegman, Bayard Osborn, Clarence Brush—
President, Carlton Blaine, Ellsworth Hawke—Clerk.

Without the foresight, common sense, thoughtfulness, and good planning of these men our school would not be the well kept, up-to-date, enjoyable institution that we have. They meet the second Monday of each month. Mr. Clarence Brush is president. Mr. Ellsworth Hawke, clerk.

We appreciate their efforts and sincerely thank them.

The Eatonian Staff

To Mrs. Leiby . . . .

*Love
Velma*

. . . . we, the staff, dedicate this annual. To her who put forth such untiring efforts we wish to express our gratitude and our thanks.

She has encouraged us and has kept our interest as attentive as hers throughout the making of it. Through her constant guidance we have made our annual what it is.

OUR PRINCIPAL . . . .

W. E. KESSLER

Five years ago Mr. Kessler came into our midst as our principal and teacher.

His quiet way and good natured disposition has won his way into the hearts of his pupils.

The Man Who's Square

There is something in the twinkle
Of an honest fellow's eye
That can never be mistaken,
And can never be passed by.

Be his station high or lowly,
There's that dauntless, upright air
That convinces all beholders
That the man they see is square.

Heaven gives to such men influence
Over those they daily meet.
If they see a fallen brother,
They will help him to his feet;

Make the sneaks a bit uneasy,
Make the false act kind of fair,
For the greatest rogue on record
Will respect the man who's square.

"BADE" . . . .

Eaton High School has had several janitors in its history but one of the most friendly and likable of them all is Cleon Crowell, better known to his friends as "Bade."

He has been here three years and has done fine work both inside and out to keep the school looking nice.

The School Busses . . . .

Our school board has provided these modern busses for our safety and convenience. As they appear above left to right:—No. 2 is driven by Elton Hill, No. 1 by Louis Munn, No. 3 by Robert Grills, and No. 4 by Le'and Durkee. These men have proved themselves very capable drivers. Parents and pupils may place the utmost confidence in them. We want these drivers to know we appreciate their services.

The Prophecy of the Class of 1939 . . . .

It was quite late one Sunday afternoon when I left the Yacht Club for a sail in my trusty "Dream Ship." I was drifting slowly through the quiet waters enjoying the peaceful solitude, when I was suddenly startled by a human voice. Had my ears deceived me? I was positive that I had been alone on board, yet someone had spoken to me. I distinctly heard the words, "You, who listen, are still among the living, but I, who speak, have long since travelled into the mysterious regions of the future." Terrified beyond expression, I turned slowly in the direction from whence the sound had come. And lo! There stood an aged man --- just a dark shadow, formless, vague, indefinite, yet possessing a voice. I stood petrified as the blood froze in my veins. Then again the voice came in its hollow guttural tones.

"Sit down and forget your fears. I shall not harm you. This afternoon, before I appeared, you had been idly speculating on what the future held for your wonderful class of 1939. Let me tell you by reading from the Book of Time in which men's future destinies are prophesied."

My fear having somewhat abated at these strange words I sat down as I was commanded to do. It was then that I noticed a large book tucked under the Phantom's arms. He opened the pages slowly with long stealthy fingers and began to read. The words came slowly but distinctly.

"The first name I see here is that of Evelyn Oldag. Her vocation is classified with the Fine Arts. Daily she is seen flitting through the woods, teaching her aesthetic dancing class the art of beauty and grace.

Closely connected with this art is that of the musical comedy, where we find Eugene Cornish's "Suppressed Desire." It is a super-musical review featuring the "personality lad" --- Paul Sievert --- as the leading man. Starring against him is that delightful lady who has sung and danced her way into the heart of Broadway --- Pearl Andrews.

In the field of Literature we find two prominent men. The first is none other than Donald Phelps. His claim to a place among our foremost writers is due to the fact that he is the editor of America's best seller, "The Rambling Stories." Our second literary genius has just finished a book that contains invaluable information for ambitious students. This great author has taken the name of "Alibi Da", and the title of his latest work is "A Complete Collection of Excuses and A'ibis Suited for All Occasions." Just recently it has been discovered the author's real name is none other than our own Dave Cook.

In the field of science I find many names. Ernest Basset, a noted New York psychologist, has discovered seven kinds of love-one for each day of the week. A notable discovery declared the leading women scientists --- Regina Shuster and Marcella McKean.

The next classification I find here deals with the professions. One Jack Rule, Director of Efficiency for the government PZYDXM Program, is studying the great "One Woman Talkie", Margarete Box. He believes that he will have her jaw patented because in it he has discovered perpetual motion.

The call of the open road and the spirit of adventure have woven their spells around the lives of Emily Ertl and Betty Ziehm. In the course of their journey around the world they met Mary McAlpin in Alaska selling refrigerators. Another time while travelling through Turkey, they were very much impressed by the fact that the women had very few privileges. Imagine their surprise when one day they saw one very young American woman standing on a soap box in a public square, orating on "The Freedom and Independence of Woman." They were further astounded upon learning that the woman was an old classmate of theirs --- Amelia Balogh. They often tell the strange incidents they heard while traveling in Egypt. A man named George Komm, as the story goes, was known to have spent hours out in the desert telling the Sphinx what he thought of Prohibition.

Amy Christensen and Lavora Hawke, who succeeded Mrs. Maxwell and Martha Lee, are now giving consolation and advice to needy students of Eaton High. Recently they received letters from Cleo Hoskins and Margaret Stranahan. Cleo wondered if she could be happy and successful leading a "High Life." I presume she meant living at the North Pole. Margaret wanted to know if she could be happy spending her life on a lonely western ranch, darning her husband's socks.

One we almost overlooked was the headline taken from the local bleet. We still can remember the days when his name was in the papers consistently, and now he --- Art Rice, as a successful lawyer, is defending one Betty Lyons in a Breach of Promise suit against a lover who wishes his name to remain unknown.

With the reading of this last name, the shadow slowly raised his head and watched me for a long time. I sat still and pondered upon what he had revealed to me. It was strange. "Man in all his greatness must bow before this higher power."

The silence between us was finally broken by the voice of the shadow. "Dear listeners, I have revealed to you the future's secrets. I hope I have answered all the questions that were crowding your mind. If so, I have completed my mission and I must return to the region whence I came."

With these parting words, the shadow closed the Book of Time. The pale, ghastly glow from the illuminated pages died away in the fold of the enveloping velvet cloak of the approaching night. Again I was alone. Still under the spell of what had been revealed to me, I slowly turned the "Dream Ship" and sailed into the darkened secrets of Human Life.

CLASS HISTORY . . . .

FRESHMAN CLASS 1935-1936

We entered our Freshman year with the following members: Amelia Balogh, Glade Box, Margarete Box, Jesse Brokaw, Agnes Burke, David Cook, Cleo Hoskin, George Komm, Betty Lyons, Mary McAlpin, Marcella McKean, Evelyn Oldag, Donald Phelps, Arthur Rice, Paul Sievert, Margaret Stranahan, and Regina Shuster.

After a hearty initiation we all settled down (or tried to).

During the class year Betty Ziehm from Cleveland and Amy Christensen from Avon joined our class and Jesse Brokaw moved to Cleveland.

Class Officers: President-Amelia Balogh; Vice President-David Cook; Secretary-Treasurer-Mary McAlpin.

SOPHOMORE CLASS 1936-1937

During our summer vacation Agnes Burke moved to Lorain. In September when we returned to school, we found that we had four new members. They were Earl Weekly from Oberlin, Jack Rule from Belden, Ernest Bassett, and Russell Reed. This brought us to the grand total of twenty-one members. We, in turn, initiated the new Freshmen. At the end of the term Russell Reed left us.

Class Officers: President-Arthur Rice; Vice President-George Komm; Secretary and Treasurer-Mary McAlpin.

Class Advisor: Mr. John Sakola.

JUNIOR CLASS 1937-1938

Upon entering our Junior year we found four new members in our class. They were Lavora Hawke from Columbia, Pearl Andrews from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Emily Ertl from Chardon, and Eugene Cornish from Grafton. This made a total of twenty-four members. We gave a minstrel with most of the members participating and a class play, "Crashing Society." Instead of giving the Seniors a send off with a prom, both Junior and Senior classes took a trip to Washington, D. C. On our way there and back we stopped to see Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Class Officers: President-Arthur Rice; Vice President-Amelia Balogh, Secretary-Margaret Stranahan; Treasurers-Betty Lyons and Mary McAlpin.

Class Advisor: Mr. John Sakola.

SENIOR CLASS 1938-1939

Twenty-two members reported for school in September for the last time. Two members had left our school. They were Earl Weekly, who went back to Oberlin, and Glade Box, who moved to La Grange. The Senior class sponsored a cafeteria every Wednesday during the school year. It was the first one in the school.

Instead of a Senior class play a minstrel was given.

We also had the honor to be the first class from Eaton High School to graduate in caps and gowns.

Class Officers: President-Arthur Rice; Vice President-Amelia Balogh; Secretary-Margaret Stranahan; Treasurer - Betty Lyons.

Class Advisor: Mr. John Sakola.

SENIOR WILL . . . .

We, as Seniors, do solemnly swear
That one of the Juniors will be our heir.
As we make this, our last testament and will,

We hope none of you are treated ill.
But we'll do our best, and you can bet,
That this is all you're going to get.
So just sit tight, Chilluns,
And don't think us vil'ains,
'Cause you know, we're not dead yet.

Solemnly swears does Jackie Rule,
That he isn't anybody's fool.
And what he's got, he aims to take
When from Eaton, his departure he'll make.

Margaret Stranahan, all her boy friends left behind
Will be willed to Alma Box. We're sure she won't mind.

Then Georgie Komm, always full of happiness and joy,
Leaves his fun to Bob Shuster, the Junior
"Glamour Boy."

And Miss Betty Ziehm, strange as it may seem,
Wills her freckles to Mr. Buse's daughter,
Mary Jean.

Paul Sievert, the Senior "Man about Town," Wills suit No. 13 to Jamieson, the "Freshman Clown."

Lavora Hawke says "I'll solemnly swear,
and I don't mean cuss,
My basketball ability, I'll leave to my brother, Russ."

Gene Cornish, who gets nothing but A's, Leaves those grades to Joe Stritzel, who's in something of a daze.

"In this, my last testament," sayeth
Amelia Balogh,
"I'll leave Mr. Saisbury a bottle of Coca Cola."

Donald Phelps, it must be said,
Will give to Bade Crowell his hair of red.

And Cleo Hoskin says that any of you
That want red hair may have hers, too.

"I'm going to leave my physics book," says
Ernie Bassett

"To Leroy Cowley, maybe next year he can pass it."

Those big hazel eyes owned by Marcella
McKean,
She'll leave to Marion Bott, the Junior queen.

Says Arthur Rice, "For basketball I like to train,
But I'll leave my ability to next year's center, Martin Blaine."

Amy Christensen, the prettiest girl in the Senior Class,
Leaves her beauty to you and you and every other envious lass.

Mary McAlpin, the Senior's prize tomboy,
Leaves her horse to Alan Munn, the Sophomore Cowboy.

Betty Lyons, whose high school life has been full of joy,
Leaves behind, but be careful, girls, one handsome Junior boy.

Pearl Andrews, who is always neat,
Wills to Doris Yost her dainty feet.

Margarete Box, tried, trusted and true
Leaves that trust to a Junior, Alice Drew.

Emily Ertl, who is coy, beautiful and petite,

Leaves to Susan Wargo a smile that can't be beat.

Evelyn Oldag, the newest Senior thrush,
Leaves her voice to Doris Brush.

Regina Shuster, again it may seem strange,

But she won't leave to you, a boyfriend
from LaGrange.

Last, but not least, is the author of this story,

Dave Cook, if he had anything to leave,
he'd be in his glory.

So all he'll say is "Best wishes to you"

And, from Jimmy Fiddler, "I do mean you."

The End

It's the end of All our school days,
It's the end of all our fun
But it's not the end by a long ways,
Of the many friends we've won.

Yes, it's the end of all our school days,
But our lives have just begun
And we're proud to think that always,
We'll gain from the knowledge won.

It's the end of all our school days,
May we rise as the rising sun
And be glad and thankful always,
For the help from everyone.

We wish to thank our advertisers and subscribers for their cooperation.

RESERVE CO-CHAMPS OF LORAIN COUNTY . . . .

Harold Tompkins, Carl Ziehm, Martin Blaine, John Sakola, coach; Robert Rothel, George Komm, Steve Balogh.

The Reserves had a successful season this year. The boys won every game except the Avon quintet, the score being 26-20. In all other games the opponents were never within ten points of Eaton's score. The Reserve's hero for high scoring was Bob Rothel, a Freshman, with a total of 155 points for the league season. Though the total points of the boys vary by a wide margin they have what it takes—teamwork.
